

2022 Joint Admission Examination for Macao Four Higher Education Institutions Special arrangements for epidemic prevention and important notes for candidates (issued on 28th Jan 2022)

In order to safeguard the health of candidates and staff, University of Macau, Macao Polytechnic Institute, Macao Institute for Tourism Studies and Macao University of Science and Technology (hereinafter referred to as the “Four Institutions”) will follow the prevention guidelines issued by the Health Bureau of the Macao SAR Government against novel coronavirus pneumonia and will take a series of measures for the 2022 Joint Admission Examination for Macao Four Higher Education Institutions (Subjects: Languages and Mathematics) (hereinafter referred to as “JAE”), such as environmental hygiene in the examination venues, seating arrangements and hygiene administration of working personnel.

Candidates should pay attention to the following special arrangements and important notes for anti-epidemic approaches to be implemented by the Four Institutions. Candidates must also stay alert to any updates on below existing preventive measures, if any, which may be adjusted subject to the actual epidemic development and the latest guidelines to be issued by the Macao Health Bureau.

Before the Examination

- To comply with the anti-epidemic measures of the Macao SAR Government, all candidates must present the proof of having completed full vaccination against COVID-19 (i.e. 2 doses) for 14 days or the nucleic acid test with a negative result within 7 days for entry to any higher education institutions in Macao. Candidates must also present the venue QR code for health declaration to access examination rooms. Hence, candidates should have downloaded the ‘Macao Health Code’ mobile app before the examinations and ensure your mobile will work well during examination days. Candidates who are unable to present the abovementioned proof or a green venue code will not be allowed to enter examination rooms and take the examination. Candidates should make necessary arrangement accordingly.
