Information Sheet for the IT Course in Languages and Skills

CISC1000 - Information Technology Fundamentals and Practices

Workshops

- FST and ICTO are going to hold 10 online sessions to introduce the UMMoodle learning platform at the beginning of the semester. Students can join the online session via a specific URL according to your RC. The date and time of the online workshops will be posted in "Notices" of FST website (https://www.fst.um.edu.mo) 3 days before the semester starts (i.e. on 19 August 2024).

Teaching Mode

- This course will be delivered as an online course.
- All online materials will be presented in English.
- Students are required to log in the UMMoodle environment to start enjoying the course:

UMMoodle

- A weekly online Q&A tutorial hour via the Zoom and UMMoodle platforms will be arranged for each RC of CISC1000 students, but such tutorials are not compulsory for students to attend online. Students from one RC are welcome to join the online tutorials from other RC if there are time clashes in their RC tutorial slots. For details, please visit the online course website.

Examination

- The course examination will be conducted online.
- Students are required to register the examination at the UMMoodle (https://ummoodle.um.edu.mo/course/view.php?id=98262 or the QR code on the right) subject to the quota availability.
- Students can register for the CISC1000 examination by signing up online for ONE examination session at a time from the examination schedule given. If students successfully pass the examination, "P" grade will be recorded. If students do not pass the examination, they can sign up another examination session within a semester and retake the examination. There is no limit to the number of times students could retake the examination in a semester. However, if students fail to pass the examination within a semester, "NP" grade will be recorded, and students will be required to retake CISC1000 in the following semester.
- The examination schedule in academic year 2024/2025 will be announced at the UMMoodle.

Registration for Examination Date

- You can follow the below steps to register an examination schedule any time except the frozen periods (starting from 5 days before the examination date to 3 days after the examination date):

Step 1: Log in the above link → Go to "Registration for Examination Date of CISC1000"

Step 2: Choose any one available examination session (Expired and full sessions are forbidden to be chosen, ⊘ will be shown) → Click "Save my choice"

After you have saved your choice, the number of registered students of each examination session will be shown.

You can always log in and check your registered session on the top of the table, the sentence "Your selection: Session x: dd mm, yyyy (weekday) from xx:xx to xx:xx" will be shown.

Should you have any queries about the registration of examination session, please feel free to contact the FST General Office at tel. 8822 4963 during office hours or email: fst.cisc1000@um.edu.mo.